Huge car yard is coming

CMI Toyota is building a new $20 million dealership on West Tce in the city.

The new development will span 6000sq m which, according to Toyota, will make it South Australia's largest undercover car dealership.

To be constructed over three levels, the dealership's centrepiece will be two streamlined backlit window displays that run the length and breadth of the building and house 24 vehicles.

CMI Toyota managing director Paul Crawford said the new dealership would provide "state of the art facilities" for both customers and staff.

"It puts our service department, together with new vehicles, both retail and fleet, all under one roof," he said.

"The new dealership will showcase 50 display vehicles meaning that every vehicle in the Toyota range can be showcased."

The development will feature a 35 service-bay workshop, two car washes and 240 car spaces.
